Refugee family coming to Haliburton

ANGELICA INGRAM

Staff Reporter

Haliburton County could be welcoming a refugee family from Syria as early as this summer.

Last week the Haliburton Refugee Sponsorship Committee confirmed a family of 10, consisting of two parents and eight children, would be moving to the community.

The information was welcomed news for the committee, who has been working tirelessly for the past six months to raise funds for refugees, said spokesperson David Barker.

"The flow of refugees was intense at the first part of the year and then slowed down," he said. "Organizations, groups across the country like us were upset ... it was becoming disappointing because we were hearing it might be another 18 months before we get a family."

The committee has been working under the umbrella of the Anglican and United Refugee Alliance (AURA) and has raised more than $55,000, at last count, said Barker.

Duchene embraces veteran role with Team Canada

DARREN LUM

Staff Reporter

He's all of 25 years old and has already played for Canada more times than many of his teammates.

Haliburton's Matt Duchene and centre for the NHL's Colorado Avalanche is once again wearing the maple leaf and the red and white, representing Canada at the IIHF Ice Hockey World Championship in Moscow, Russia.

Last year he was part of a Canadian squad that went undefeated in the tournament to win gold.

Despite the high expectations of the country, he said this pales in comparison to the players of the team.

"The expectations we have on ourselves are bigger than what's outside of our room. It's something we take seriously but we have fun with it and just try and go play hockey," he wrote in an email from Russia.

Unlike playing in Colorado, Duchene knows there will be far fewer fans watching in the stands.

"Obviously when we're playing at the Pepsi Center there's 18,000 cheering for us whereas over here, there's very few Canadian fans. There's really no home games, just away games so it's very different," he said. Last year, the Canadian team easily won the tournament with a 10-0 record.

Cops for cancer

Wilberforce Elementary School's French teacher Scott Schelter, left, Grade 4 student Nolan Amos and Grade 8 student Jacob Wood have their heads shaved to raise money to fight against childhood cancer. The Cops for Cancer group of cyclists stopped at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre in Wilberforce on Monday, May 9, as part of the Canadian Cancer Society's Pedal for Hope tour. WES raised close to $1,000, helping the visiting cyclists with their $100,000 goal. The tour included more than 50 schools in the Peterborough and surrounding areas from April 25 to May 14. More than $45 million has been raised from tours across Canada since the effort began in 1994. DARREN LUM Staff

Human remains identified as David Palmer

ANGELICA INGRAM

Staff Reporter

Police have identified human remains found in early May near Haliburton as those of Bowmanville man David Palmer.

On May 10, OPP confirmed the identity, following a post mortem examination done on May 9.

Between May 3 and 6, the OPP conducted a search of an area north of the village of Haliburton, in relation to the missing 47-year-old man. On May 6, they discovered human remains.

Palmer was last seen Friday, Oct. 2, 2015, and on Oct. 14, 2015, Palmer's brown 2002 Honda Accord, bearing Ontario licence plate BWCZ 783, was recovered by police near Spruce Lake Trail, north of Haliburton village.

Police suspect his disappearance was caused by foul play.

The search was conducted by members of the OPP Emergency Response Team, Under water Search and Recovery Unit, and the Central Region Forensic Identification Section under the direction Detective Inspector Martin Graham of OPP Criminal Investigation Branch.

Anyone with information regarding this investigation is asked to contact the Detective Constable Matthew Carmichael of the City of Kawartha Lakes OPP Crime Unit at 705-324-6741.

Anonymous tips can be made to Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS) or online at www.durhamregion-alcrimestoppers.ca and/or Crime Stoppers at: www.stopcrimehere.ca and tipsters may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $2,000.

Haliburtonian helping in Fort McMurray

ANGELICA INGRAM

Staff Reporter

A young man who was born and raised in Haliburton is making a difference in Fort McMurray, following wildfires that have forced mass evacuation of the Alberta town.

Max Creelman has been living in Calgary for the past nine years, where he works as a fireman. Max attended Algonquin College for firefighting, following his graduation from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

He moved to Calgary for a firefighting job and has since gotten married and welcomed his first child, daughter Collins.

According to his mom, Anne Creelman, Max has been working his way up the ladder and is now considered "an expert in his field."

"He is now in Fort McMurray doing what he is trained to do and trying to help a community that desperately needs help," Anne wrote in an email to the Echo. "He's a good guy and we're proud of him."

Max is one of 29 fire tech experts who are part of the Calgary fire department sent to Fort McMurray.

According to an article published in the Calgary Herald, the team is comprised of highly trained and seasoned emergency management personnel, who have experience responding to previous disasters.

"We're proud of him but know it was hard for him to leave this time since he and his wife have a month-old baby girl now," said Anne. "Hoping for safety of all the people in the area, residents, first responders and all the people working to help the entire region."

Transportation project drives forward with new service

A new information and referral service is launching in Haliburton County to help connect people with transportation options.

The initiative is one that has been developed and implemented by the Rural Transportation Options committee (a part of the Haliburton County Community Co-operative), the Community Transportation Partnership and the County of Haliburton as part of a transportation project funded by the Ontario Ministry of Transportation.

The service includes an interactive website and phone line through which residents of Haliburton County can access information and referrals to transportation services that meet their needs.

The website includes a search feature that produces a customized list of transportation services that meet the user's search criteria.

For those not online or more comfortable speaking with a live person, the phone line is monitored daily throughout the workweek and provides information and referrals to callers.

"Transportation is a definite concern for many residents in the county for many different reasons," says project co-ordinator Tina Jackson.

"Our region has a patchwork of transportation services to address these needs and this service is meant to connect people with the transportation options that can best meet their needs."

This includes providing one-on-one support in navigating the transportation system, including having a support person travel with a new service user to help take the intimidation out of using a service for the first time. "Several portions of our community are served by transit systems," reports Jackson. "Figuring out how to purchase tickets and where the stops are can be scary. I am able to meet with anyone who is feeling anxious about using a service to help overcome that barrier by travelling with them that first time."

Anyone looking for information on transportation options can visit the website at www.transportationhaliburtoncounty.ca; call 705-455-2665 or toll-free 1-844-771-RIDE (7433).

MacLean remembered for service, passion for community

JENN WATT

Editor

When Malcolm MacLean was awarded the Queen's Diamond Jubilee Medal in 2013, then-MP Barry Devolin took to the airwaves of Canoe FM to present the honour.

It was a fitting location for the active volunteer, who had already been with the station for a decade at that point.

"Today we recognize a great individual who has dedicated himself to service, to family, community and country," Devolin said in a release leading up to the honour.

A retired educator, he divided his volunteer time between the Minden Legion, Minden Rotary Club and Canoe FM.

Last week, the community lost MacLean.

"In his own way and in his own time, passed away on May 10, 2016, in his 66th year, in his loving wife's arms," the first line of his obituary reads. He is "survived by his wife Lee, son Shawn, sister Marian, brother Gord, nieces, nephews, great-nieces and great-nephews."

Georgina Parkes, who volunteered with MacLean at the Legion, was deeply affected by his passing.

"I just thought he was a super person. He was willing to do anything and everything," she says. Parkes worked with MacLean when she was branch president and he was vice president. She says he then became president and held the post for five years, all the while volunteering in other capacities.

"[It's] an awful lot of responsibility. He was in it full force, both hands," she says.

"He was just a fantastic person."

Current Legion branch president Judy Flieger says MacLean was a tremendous help to her and that he and Lee could often be found in the kitchen helping out with the cooking.

"I said when I heard, 'why is it always the good ones?'" she recalls. "He cared about everything."

MacLean also cared deeply about Canoe FM and the possibilities of community radio, station manager Roxanne Casey says.

"He was passionate about community radio. He believed in the whole idea of volunteers being involved in radio and it [being] so important to have Canadian artists on the air," she says.

Over the years, he hosted a variety of programs covering folk, bluegrass and Canadian music. In 2009, he joined the board and at one point or another contributed to every committee. He became president in 2013.

Casey remembers his innate curiosity and love of technology.

"He was the first one to be able to broadcast from home because he knew exactly what to do," she says. When the idea of the Radio Hall was broached, he jumped on board and helped make it happen.

He was willing to take chances and try new ideas. "Malcolm was always the one to say, let's try it," she says.

Volunteers at the station have been sending their memories and condolences to the station, which Casey has compiled for the family.

"It appears that we are all too often saddened by the passing of vibrant, contributing people in our community and in our lives," fellow radio host Mike Jaycock wrote. "It remains for all of us to respect their memories by doing the very best we can with our precious time, for our families, our friends and for our community."

"Malcolm had a unique way (in a nice way) about him and I always enjoyed working with him," read another letter signed "Case."

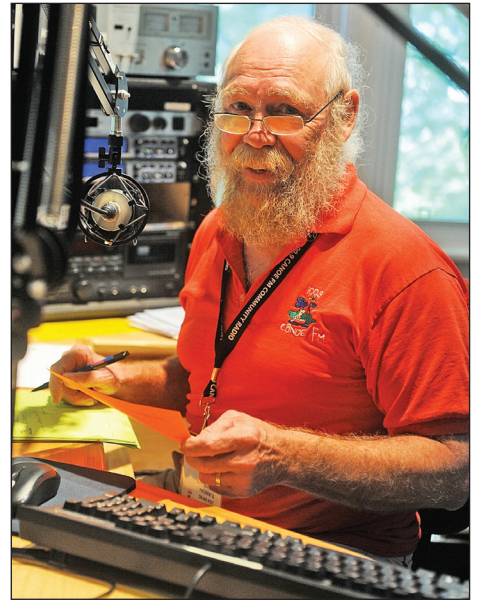

"I loved his sense of humour and his positive attitude."

While MacLean was president, he kept a bowl of chocolates on his desk in hope of encouraging people to come by his desk and interact. He kept Smarties especially for Casey's grandchildren – their favourite.

It's a tradition the station manager says will continue on, like so many others started by the longtime volunteer.

She has a quote that MacLean wrote, which she has read on air and intends to keep: "Our community, our volunteers and our staff: we work together to make a difference. No one person is 100.9 Canoe FM. We are a vision that continues to grow."

A memorial gathering was held for MacLean at the Legion in Minden on Saturday.

Malcolm MacLean is seen in this file photo during the Canoe FM's Radiathon fundraiser on July 7, 2013. He passed away May 10. /ANGELICA INGRAM Staff

'A wonderful way to change the world'

Recently AURA sent out a survey asking groups what they could accommodate in terms of refugees, including family size.

"We said we can take a large family no problem and apparently that got us bumped to the top," said Barker.

The family, who is currently in Beirut, Lebanon, have fled Syria and could be in Haliburton County in the next six to eight weeks.

They will rent St. George's Anglican Church's rectory, which is spacious enough for the family as it has five bedrooms.

There are eight children in the family, four boys, three girls and a toddler, who range from age two to 19.

Barker said the committee does not yet know the names of the family members.

The funds raised by the committee will go towards settling the family into their new home and covering expenses for the first year.

Barker said the family members will not be seeking employment during that year, as the goal is to teach them English.

"The deal is that we sponsor them for the first year. They're encouraged not to seek employment in the first year, that's what we've raised money for," he said. "Their job in the first year is to learn English and to learn it well, with a good Haliburtonian accent."

Committee members have been grouped into subcommittees, focused on areas such as health, English as a second language and more.

These committees are prepared to teach them the ins and outs of life in Canada, including how to deal with black flies, said Barker.

"We've got a lot of volunteers in play, it's amazing the work that they've done," said Barker.

Since formed, the committee has received an outpouring of support and donations, including furniture, blankets, housewares and more.

"The challenge for us has been where do we store this stuff?" said Barker. "The outpouring of public support is tremendous and we're so thrilled with all of that."

The committee is excited to know that all their hard work is finally coming to fruition.

"Our fundraising has gone so well and continues to go well," said Barker, adding the Rotary Interact group at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School is raising funds this week for the committee.

If more money is collected than is required for the family, the committee will be looking to the possibility of bringing in another family, said Barker.

"There are 60 million displaced persons in the world and 20 million, approximately, are refugees," he said.

"There's a lot of need and the wonderful thing about Canada is that it's so wonderful ... this is a wonderful way to change the world. When people see us with open hearts and open arms they'll start to believe that there's hope in the world."

Welcome, refugees

HALIBURTON HAS JUST received news that a family of refugees will be coming to the Highlands soon.

Two parents and eight children ranging in age from two to 19 have already undoubtedly endured much, leaving their home in war-torn Syria and travelling to Beirut, Lebanon, where they now await the next chapter of their lives.

Over the last seven months, this community has rallied in support of this family, knowing only that they gave up almost everything to be here.

Hundreds of Highlands residents have stepped up, donating money and clothes, furniture and promises of services and volunteers have coordinated it all.

I've had the privilege of serving on the Haliburton Refugee Sponsorship Committee and I can attest to the admirable dedication I've seen from local people, who have offered up their skills and talents to raise money to help this family when they arrive.

Some of the offers bring tears to your eyes: a restaurant willing to cook meals with ingredients of the family's native land; quilters fashioning a special blanket with symbols of starting anew stitched in; a family excursion to a local camp; a library basket filled with age-appropriate materials. Those are just a few of the dozens of heart-warming offers that have come in.

We don't yet know the story behind the family chosen for our area, only that they are desperate enough to leave their friends, family, culture and homeland to find safety.

There has been some discussion around the question of whether Canada is able to help people from other countries when we have so many of our own problems at home. That is a valid concern.

The First Nations people have been raising alarm for decades about the state of housing, schooling and basic infrastructure with little improvement in that time.

Fort McMurray's evacuation due to wildfires has displaced a town of 80,000 people. Food banks have seen a steady increase in usership that shows no sign of abating. The list goes on.

But the list has always gone on. Helping one group does not preclude helping another.

In fact, it makes little sense to focus solely on one issue until it is solved before moving to the next largely because we so seldom "finish" solving anything.

All we can do is try to reach out to those who are suffering in whatever way we can. Sometimes that means dividing our energy and redoubling our efforts.

This, of course, is already underway.

As has been demonstrated time and again, the Haliburton Highlands is a place with incredible heart. We now have a new opportunity to show it as we welcome refugees to our community.

Concert to support LGBTQ+ youth

INTERNATIONAL FOLK SINGER Kate Reid is performing a concert in support of LGBTQ+ youth in our community. The concert will take place on Saturday May 21, at 7 p.m. at the Haliburton Curling Club and will also feature performers from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School's Youth Coffee House. Kate's new album Queer Across Canada is a collection of tracks that traverse a wide landscape of family scenarios. Through her music and school workshops she offers, she hopes to create a "new normal" for children in trailblazing LGBTQ families. In the process, she hopes to dispel the confusion, misunderstanding and pain these youngsters can experience as a result of peer and societal pressure and bullying.

Some of you may be asking why this is an important event to hold in our community. PARN (Peterborough AIDS Resource Network), Point in Time, the HKPR Health Unit and Trillium Lake-lands District School Board, while involving other community organizations and businesses, have collaborated over the years to strategize around how to best support LGBTQ+ youth in our community.

Perhaps you do not know that many individuals in Haliburton County do identify on the rainbow spectrum of sexual preference and identity. Point in Time has made it a priority in recent years to build support for LGBTQ+ youth in Haliburton County. We do this through targeted events (like the Kate Reid concert), outreach and engaging youth and adults in strategizing and implementing these plans.

We know that communities that are more inclusive make a huge difference in rainbow youth's lives. Mental health and well-being is highly associated with inclusion, breaking down isolation, and acceptance. The reason that these youth may need extra support within our community is due to the stress that they may face having to hide their sexuality or to "come out" to family or friends or being ridiculed by peers.

The mental health of individuals who identify on the rainbow spectrum is impacted by accumulated stigma, prejudice and discrimination, leading to higher rates of depression, anxiety and suicide compared to the general population. It is important that community members become allies for rainbow youth. They can do this by coming out to the Kate Reid concert where funds will be allocated to supporting LGBTQ+ youth in Haliburton, or by placing a rainbow sticker in their store window to represent a safe space. You can also make a donation to Point in Time to help build resources for these youth by visiting www.pointintime.ca.

You may still be wondering, what this word is that we keep using "LGBTQ+", let us explain. It is an acronym that encompasses the spectrum of sexual and gender preferences. It is important to use these words appropriately and respectfully.

Let's get informed! What do the letters stand for?

L - Lesbian: Women attracted to women.

G - Gay: Men attracted to men.

B - Bisexual: People attracted to both sexes.

T - Transgender: People whose interior sense of gender is different than their exterior physical sexuality, whether male to female (MTF) or female to male (FTM).

T- Transsexual: People who emotionally and psychologically feel that they belong to the opposite sex.

Q - Queer: People who don't want to label themselves by their sex acts but do want to claim being different, eccentric, and fabulous.

Q - Questioning: People still working out who they are attracted to, often applicable to the young.

+ Encompasses all other possible sexual and gender preferences including Asexual, Pansexual, Two-spirited, Intersex, Allies and more.

Trout shoes

OVER THE LAST WEEK or two, I have discovered something very important that might be useful to farmers, gardeners and umbrella manufacturers alike. Basically, if you want it to rain, leave something outside to dry. I realized this because I have a pair of trout shoes that I have left on my back deck for the last two weeks and they are still not even close to dry.

Trout shoes, of course, would have it no other way. Visitors to the county might not be aware of what trout shoes are or the miraculous set of circumstances that transform an otherwise ordinary pair of jogging shoes into them.

Admittedly, I am not a biologist, but I have watched enough shoes make the transformation to explain this much.

The life cycle of a trout shoe varies but it, typically, starts the summer before as an expensive and often gaudy pair of jogging shoes. This part of the life cycle ends quickly, however, when an actual attempt at jogging is made. At that point, the shoe discovers that the energy expenditure is too great to be sustainable.

After that, the shoes mate for life and also form a symbiotic relationship with white socks which lasts throughout the summer until the cold mornings of autumn finally arrive. Then they become less active and spend most of their hours sitting on a shoe rack, where hunting boots once sat.

When winter comes, the pair retires even further into a dry, dark place and enter into a state of near hibernation that continues until early spring. As snow levels recede, daylight hours expand and temperatures rise, they, once again, emerge from their den, only to make yet another futile attempt at jogging.

Sometimes, by doing this the shoes are able to delay their metamorphosis into the trout shoe for a while. Most times, this stage is very short-lived, however.

This is followed by another brief period of moderate activity where they can be seen foraging at supermarkets, hardware stores and restaurants.

But all this changes when ice goes out and the open water season for trout begins. Then, the shoes are inexplicably drawn towards river mud and stream banks. At first, they remain on the river banks, but somewhere in the course of a morning one of nature's greatest miracles occurs. The shoes venture into the water and, along with the white socks, get completely soaked.

Those who study the trout shoe have varying theories as to why shoes that are in no way suited to an aquatic habitat would rush into perhaps the coldest water of the year.

Some suggest they might be following a primal urge to retrieve a lure or fly from a tree limb overhanging the river. Others maintain it is to get into a casting position better suited to snagging the rocks beside a big rainbow trout just out of reach. Still others maintain the shoes enter into the water accidentally while watching another lucky angler land a fish.

Whatever the reason, the transformation from lowly jogging shoe to trout shoe is nearly complete at this point. All that remains is a quick return to its natal shoe rack to finish the cycle.

Once there, dripping and smelling of fish roe and other, less attractive river bank odors, the shoes somehow complete the least understood part of their journey. I am talking about the migration to their summer grounds on the back deck, as far from the barbecue as possible.

No one who has ever studied trout shoes knows how this last migration occurs. All we know is one minute, just after a fishing trip, they are with the other shoes – and not long after, they are on the back deck isolated from the herd.

This final journey is made all the more mysterious since the women in the house, who pay more attention to shoes than most, swear they have no idea how this happened.

As I said, I'm not a biologist, but I suspect there's something fishy about it all.

May 1953: Haliburton Train Station

In 1952, Rideout Real Estate Limited of Peterborough was approached by lawyer Jim Dunn and his business partner Jack Hayward, who recently had purchased a large tract of land from Clayton Hodgson and would be developed and offered to the public as a cottage and lakeshore package for $2,500. Ernest Rideout Real Estate was to be appointed exclusive agents for this project.

It was disclosed on Jan. 5, 1953, in a news release on the front page of the Toronto Star and the Telegram, that the $2 million project would include a shopping centre (to serve up to 5000 summer residents) and would contain a general store, service station, motel, boat livery and airplane docking facilities. There would be 800 cottages built on at least 100 feet of shoreline fronting on what would now be called Haliburton Lake (formerly known as Crooked Lake).

Rideout Real Estate featured the properties for sale at the first Canadian Hobby and Home Craft Show, held at the CNE Coliseum, Feb. 6, 1953, following an extensive advertising campaign in the Toronto daily newspapers. The promoter of the show donated space for a model cottage, using this as a drawing card to the new event. At the show, more than 100 deposits of $100 were taken on cottage sites, unseen.

Approximately 300 future vacation property homeowners were brought to Haliburton that May on a steam powered CNR passenger train chartered by the developers, and then transported to Haliburton Lake via coach bus, chartered from Colonial Bus Lines. Once they arrived at Haliburton Lake, they were ferried around the lake by salesmen in cars and boats to see what they had bought. Submitted by Dave Freeman

Wildfires inspire caution

To the Editor,

As we have all been watching with horror as Alberta burns and grieving for the people, the animals and the trees, I can't help but think of how catastrophic a wildfire would be for the Haliburton Highlands.

Our forests are also vulnerable with the mild winter we've had and many of our homes are in close proximity to forested areas. That's one reason we love living in Haliburton.

Personally, I don't think we can afford the risk of an accidental fire caused by fireworks, campfires or carelessly tossed cigarette butts. Please everyone, use extra caution.

Haliburton student elected trustee

The Trillium Lakelands District School Board student trustee for the 2016-2017 school year was elected by G7 Student Senate members at the G7 Student Leadership Conference on April 29. Carmen Galea – a Grade 11 student from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School – has now stepped into the role, formerly held by 2015 to 2016 student trustee Sam Koop from Huntsville High School.

"I'm very excited to work with students and staff from across TLDSB, as well as Ontario," says Carmen.

"Hearing ideas, concerns, and opinions from different perspectives is something I'm passionate about. I really felt the support and love from my family and friends in running for this position, and look forward to making them all proud."

Carmen is active in her school community – she is a co-captain of her school's varsity girls' rugby team and has been a representative on student government since the ninth grade. Carmen also enjoys her role on the dance committee at school and has supported youth engagement by organizing Mental Health Week. After graduation, she would like to pursue university studies for political science and history, and travel as much as possible.

"We're pleased to welcome Carmen as the new 2016 to 2017 student trustee," says Louise Clodd, chairwoman of the board. "Student voice permeates all levels of our work together, and we look forward to hearing the G7 Student Senate reports detailing their priorities and perspectives."

"We've been very fortunate to have forward-thinking students contribute to board meeting discussions," says Larry Hope, director of education. "We are confident that Carmen will represent student voice at the board table and help to shape the future of education in Trillium Lakelands District School Board."

The G7 Student Senate is comprised of one student elected from each TLDSB secondary school. The team meets regularly to discuss challenges and achievements at each of the schools as well as plan events throughout the school year. The student trustee then compiles all information and reports to school board meetings and to the Ontario Student Trustee Association.

County sticks with map for tourism promotion

CHAD INGRAM

Staff Reporter

Haliburton County will stick with the map-like explore guide it produced this year, versus the traditional Destination Guide it produced previously, as its main tourism publication for 2017.

Members of the county's tourism committee discussed the creation of next year's guide during a May 12 meeting.

For a number of years, the county printed its Destination Guide, a booklet filled with editorial content about the area and events, along with maps and advertisements for local businesses.

For 2016, the county switched to a fold-out map format, titled Explore #MyHaliburtonHighlands. A map of the municipality shows its four townships and the locations of various businesses and attractions, and is surrounded by ads for local businesses. It also features an events listing.

During their meeting Wednesday, committee members discussed whether to return to the thicker guide, or stick with the map concept.

A majority of members of the Haliburton Highlands tourism stakeholders group seem to prefer the former.

Minutes from an April 20 meeting of the group show that in a vote, 25 members said they'd prefer to return to 2015 format, versus eight who said they liked the 2016 format.

Five were undecided.

"I personally feel like there has not been negative feedback from consumers about this product," Virtanen told members of the committee, who voted to stick with the map-like product.

The map is cheaper for the county to produce; about $30,000 versus the $48,000 it cost to produce the Destination Guide.

Parker Pad and Printing has produced the county's tourism promotion materials for the past three years, but the 2017 project will be up for bidding and a request for proposals (RFP) will be issued later this month.

"For the past three years, the Destination Guide/ #MyHaliburtonHighlands publication has been developed by the tourism department in concert with Parker Pad and Printing, and produced by same," read a report from Virtanen. "Parker Pad and Printing was also responsible for the solicitation of advertisers and responsible for collecting ad insertion orders, which then went to the county's accounting department to invoice each advertiser. As per the contract with Parker Pad and Printing, 2017 is the year that the county is required to issue a new RFP for this project."

The RFP is scheduled to go out on May 26, with the window closing June 7.

While some committee members felt this period was too short, others stressed that in order for the new guide to be available at the beginning of 2017, the process needed to be quick.

A suggested timeline for the 2017 publication has the winning vendor being notified by the end of June, a design direction conversation taking place at a September committee meeting and the product going to press in December for January distribution.

Competitive bids on paving contract

CHAD INGRAM

Staff Reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed during a May 11 Haliburton County roads committee meeting.

Councillors and staff were pleased that three of five bids on a $1.3-million paving contract came in within about $55,000 of one another.

The contract – for the rehabilitation and hot-mix paving of seven kilometres of County Road 503 and three kilometres of County Road 648 – will be awarded to CoCo Paving Inc. for $1.323 million. Bids from Norway Asphalt Ltd. and Royel Paving came in at $1.348 million and $1.378 million, respectively.

"I was happy to see good competition there," said roads director Craig Douglas.

The work on County Road 503 will extend east from County Road 507 and the work on County Road 648 will extend east from Harcourt.

Portion of Horseshoe Lake Road to close

A portion of Horseshoe Lake Road will be closed in the fall as rehabilitation work is performed on the Horseshoe Lake dam.

Roads director Craig Douglas told councillors a section of the road south of the intersection with Bethel Road will be blocked off for about two months. The federal government announced last year that millions would be spent on renovations to Trent Severn Waterway infrastructure, including some dams in the county.

Algonquin Highlands Reeve and County Warden Carol Moffatt wondered if the appropriate people – EMS, the school board, residents, etc. – were being notified and Douglas said detour signs would be put in place.

"Other than notifying us they're doing it, there's been no consultation," said Minden Hills Reeve Brent Devolin.

In addition, it was decided that the county will invest about $650 in signage reminding motorists not to use handheld devices while driving.

Subway restaurant on the move

ANGELICA INGRAM

Staff Reporter

Come this summer, lovers of footlong sandwiches will be heading in a new direction.

Owner of Haliburton's Subway restaurant, Prakash-kumar Shah confirmed to the Haliburton Echo that the franchise is moving to 177 Highland Street, where Henwood's Variety store used to be located.

The location, which was most recently a dollar store, has sat empty for a number of months.

The decision to move was made based on the size available at the new location, said Shah. The franchisee hopes to be open at the new spot by the end of July.

Before that he plans on doing some work on the building.

Once opened, the new Subway restaurant will be larger in size, offer an open concept feel and more seating, including couches.

"It will be a very beautiful store," he said. "It will be totally new decor."

Shah has owned the Subway restaurant in Haliburton since 2006 and owns a number of other franchises.

Shah says business at Subway has been good and he is hoping that continues at the new location.

Fleming College silk screen instructor Elisha Barlow, above left, teaches senior high school students on Wednesday, April 27 at Haliburton School of Art and Design. There were 40 students from Kawartha Pine Ridge District School Board schools at the campus that received advanced training in jewelry making and in silk screen, as part of this one-day Specialist High Skills Major (SHSM) Activity Day. This was part of the SHSM program offering that allows Grade 11 and 12 students to focus on receiving education towards a career path that matches their skills and interests. These students earn a SHSM seal on their high school diploma after completing a specific bundle of eight to 10 courses in a student's selected field. DARREN LUM Staff

Browning to play major role in games
 Jenn Watt
 Editor

A letter left in the mailboxes of one of Canada's best known figure skaters paid off for Ontario 50+ Games manager Kurt Browning, who confirmed last week that Kurt Browning would be playing a role in the Haliburton County event, to be held in the town of Haliburton on Saturday, May 7. The event, which will be the first of its kind in the county, will feature a variety of skating events, including a skating competition, a skating clinic, and a skating social. Browning, who is a two-time Olympic champion, will be the guest of honor at the event. The event is being organized by the Haliburton County Skating Association, which is a non-profit organization that promotes skating in the county. The event is expected to draw a large crowd of spectators, and it is hoped that it will help to raise the profile of skating in the county.

MPP Laurie Scott contacts MTO over roads
 Jenn Watt
 Editor

Local MPP Laurie Scott spends a lot of time on Ontario's highways and she says she's been frustrated with the way the province handles road maintenance. She says that the MTO is not doing enough to keep the roads in good condition, and that this is putting the safety of drivers at risk. She has written a letter to the MTO, asking them to take action to improve road maintenance. She says that she will continue to monitor the situation and that she will be in contact with the MTO again if necessary.

Minden Hills man implicated in stock fraud
 Chad Ingram
 Staff reporter

Gold Corp. According to The Globe and Mail, a man from Minden Hills has been implicated in a stock fraud scheme. The man, who is a resident of Minden Hills, is accused of selling shares of Gold Corp. to investors, claiming that the shares were worth more than they actually were. The man is currently on the run from the police, and he is wanted in connection with the fraud. The police are currently investigating the case, and they hope to catch the man soon.

Man dies in Hwy 35 collision
 Chad Ingram
 Staff reporter

An 81-year-old Cobden man is dead after a car crash off Highway 35 in Minden Hills on Saturday morning. The man, who was driving a car, was involved in a collision with a truck. The truck was carrying a load of lumber, and it was traveling in the same direction as the car. The car was struck from behind, and it rolled over. The man was killed instantly. The police are currently investigating the crash, and they hope to determine the cause of the accident.

Judged Best

Overall Newspapers in Ontario!*

*At the recent Ontario Community Newspapers Association's annual Better Newspaper Awards celebrations, the Haliburton County Echo and Minden Times won 1st in their circulation class in the General Excellence Category for 2015.

Here are the Judge's Comments:

"The Haliburton County Echo is a wonderful example of what can be accomplished when all members of a team are pulling in the same direction. From writing and photography to page layout and print quality, the Echo demonstrates quality at every turn of the pages. Readers get a great look into the community the newspaper serves. Solid reporting, insightful opinions, useful information, excellent photographs – I simply can't find anything not to like about this newspaper."

"The Minden Times is a very strong paper throughout. There was no area they produce a poor product and presented the best overall package. Quite often when judging, it comes down to first impressions. Minden's front page photos were the best, as was its photography throughout. Good photos command the reader's attention. As usual with winners, the editorials were excellent. Many do a poor job, some don't offer local editorials and insight, which is disappointing. Local writers are a must in editorials. A crisp, clean layout."

To find out how you can have the Echo or Times delivered to your home each week through Canada Post, please call Debbie at 705-286-1288.

To discuss your 2016 advertising campaign, please call David Zilstra at 705-457-1037 ext. 37.

Expressive arts educator speaking in Haliburton

Expressive arts instructor Markus Scott-Alexander will be speaking at Haliburton School of Art and Design on Tuesday, May 24, from 6 to 7 p.m. as part of their Art Talk series.

Scott-Alexander is a psychotherapist and has been working in expressive arts for 30 years. He is the director of the World Arts Organization in Edmonton where he teaches students in expressive arts therapy.

The following is a Q&A with Scott-Alexander.

What brought you to the field of expressive arts?

I like to give thought to what I care about. Expressive arts gives me the opportunity to actively use my mind, my heart, my body and my spirit. It isn't about the arts. It's through the arts that we come back to what matters and to what precedes our distortions. Then, once we have come "home," the question then becomes, how do we enter the world in a creative and sensitive way. This profession attracted me because it demands an immediacy of thought and response.

What are you teaching during your time in Haliburton?

I'm curious about what the relationship is between creativity and resiliency. If we are to bounce back after profound difficulty, it requires not only a healthy body, but a healthy attitude. The arts are about inspiration and skill. Through expressive arts, we stay with questions like, What sustains me? What is generative? What nurtures me?

How is expressive arts different from other arts study? Can you give examples?

There is a difference between acquiring techniques and building skill. Our modus operandi of "Low Skill, High Sensitivity" places the emphasis on process rather than product. Sometimes it is called art as a way of knowing.

We also work with all arts modalities from writing to painting to dance and theatre, photography and so on. Working in one art form supports and strengthens another art form.

It is not about identifying as, say, a painter but rather as a creative human

Expressive arts instructor Markus Scott-Alexander is teaching the week of May 23 to 27 and will be doing an Art Talk Tuesday, May 24, 6 to 7 p.m. in the Great Hall of Fleming College. Photo by Aaron Pederson being who has many facets and many ways of exploring and shaping that aspects of the psyche.

Mental health issues have been on the public radar more than ever in recent years. Has that changed the level of interest in expressive arts?

As the world becomes crazier with the level of difficulty increasing in what is required of us to stay sane, expressive arts has become a wonderful way of approaching well being that is not about personal mental health problems but rather about how to use a resource-oriented therapy to access resources within us like playfulness or a sense of humour or creativity in general, through the arts.

We don't work on issues. We work to access our ability to respond to an ever-increasing pressure-filled world, creatively.

Some practitioners of expressive arts are not psychotherapists. Is that a distinction that needs to be drawn when working with an instructor?

I am interested in the question, "What works?" when looking at complex questions about the human psyche and its complexities.

What works? What helps us to return to a state that precedes all of our distortions and precedes our desire to be acceptable?

As a psychotherapist, I am interested in both the depth and length of the soul-searching process.

There is a deep commitment to truly discover "what" we are and to give that what a "who."

I like to teach students in a way that is about the ever-growing cultivation of conscious awareness to support real change.

Your bio says that the career as taken you around the world to places like Peru and Malta. Can you elaborate on why?

I work in way that I might call pre-cultural. The arts can not only find a way for our many cultures to interact but the arts can also take us to a very primal level of expression that can be referred to as pre-cultural and precedes our acculturation. I work with students in over 20 countries.

We are all expressions of the Oneness, each in our own unique way.

The graduate school that I teach at in Switzerland, the European Graduate School (EGS) www.expressivearts.egs.edu has many training programs that interface with this institution. I teach at most of them from Hong Kong to Norway.

My school in Edmonton, World Arts Organization (www.worldarts.org) is one of those schools that function in cooperation with EGS.

(I'm originally from New York where I ran a school for almost 20 years. This is my 30th year in expressive arts).

I travel to teach either at an affiliate training program or to present at the yearly International Expressive Arts Spring Symposium.

This year it was in Ireland, next year Sweden.

I'm looking forward to giving a keynote address to the Canadian Counseling and Psychotherapy Association's Research Conference in the fall, in St. Albert, Alberta.

I'm planning on talking about creative process-based research and how playfulness is essential to all aspects of thought.

But for now, I'm very happy to be in Haliburton.

Larter shares insights during trip home

Firefighters assist with kitchen fire

The Dysart Fire Department helped a caller extinguish a kitchen fire on Sunday, May 15, at a residence on Pine Avenue in Haliburton.

According to the department, a pot of oil caught fire, causing the home to fill up with smoke. Damage is estimated at $10,000.

The fire was put out with an extinguisher and the fire department used fans to ventilate the home.

They are reminding the public to stay near their stoves while cooking and to always keep a lid close when heating grease or oil.

Optimism is still high with the Red Hawks senior girls’ soccer team despite a 2-0 loss to the visiting Fenelon Falls Secondary School Falcons on Wednesday, May 11 at the Gary G. Brohman Athletic Field in Haliburton.

The loss drops the team to 3-2 to end the Kawartha High School Soccer League.

Head coach Judi Paul said playing the faster Falcons team is important preparation for the upcoming Kawartha playoffs this week.

“It was good for them to watch a team that moved as quickly as those guys [did] to the ball. Our guys tended to wait while those girls were very quick and very fast so I think that we started to see a little bit more of that toward the end of the game the girls trying to be first to the ball,” she said.

Volunteer coach Doug Sullivan loved how, as the game wore on, the Hawks were able to respond to the physical play initiated by the visitors.

“They were aggressive so our team responded in kind. I noticed our team being a lot more assertive with getting their bodies and getting their shoulders in front [of Falcons’ players] and it was good, which I hadn’t noticed until this point. That looked good,” he said.

Sullivan said the areas the team will need to work on is increasing their speed of play, moving the ball, and running to space on the pitch without the ball to allow an outlet for ball carriers.

There has been a disconnect between working the ball down the field with short passes and the tendency to favour long passes towards the net, he said.

He said their backfield defender Vivian Collings was their player of the game. She was reliable and nullified attacks with her balance on the ball and clearing ability.

Leading scorer Mackenzie Henderson watched from the sidelines, first from the team bench and then the opposite side of the field in the second half with crutches. She was out of the lineup after being injured in a collision with a goalkeeper two days before at the same field. Her diagnosis is unknown and her return this week is uncertain.

Paul said the team is likely the top seed for AA Kawartha. She adds if the team wins its Kawartha play-off game against St. Thomas Aquinas (a likely candidate) this Wednesday in Lindsay they will earn a berth to the Central Ontario Secondary School Athletics A finals on May 24. If they can win the semi-final game on the same day after they will host COSSA, they said.

From one family to another

DARREN LUM

Staff Reporter

She just wanted to say thank you.

The Head Lake Grill owner and operator Diana Gomes provided a luncheon to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School senior boys' basketball team for being a second family to her and her son, Travis Carroll, who played for the team since Grade 10.

"Thank you for being good kids and doing your thing and being kids," she said.

With only eight players, the team was representative of the little engine that could.

She explains they're her "boys."

"I'm like their surrogate mother and the crazy aunt they never had," she said.

Gomes said her business just marked four years, closely mirroring the time her son has been with the team.

"When you do well you should be rewarded," she said, referring to the Hawks and its Kawartha High School League title.

Travis is her only son and said his teammates are like the brothers he never had, giving him an opportunity to grow as a person and be part of a team.

"This really brought him out ... with dealing with people and knowing how to act and speak," she said. "They're life skills. Things you need on a day-to-day basis as you get older and you grow up, right?"

The biggest change happened, she said, last year. He became more committed to the team and the effort, feeling a responsibility to all of its members. He also worked out in the summer leading up to this season.

There was a spring lunch for the Red Hawks senior boys' 2015-2016 basketball team courtesy of Head Lake Grill for its success at finishing 7-1 in the Kawartha High School Basketball League. The team was like a second family for its owner and operator. The lunch included coach Gord Cochrane, left, players Nick Thompson, Drew Van Lieshout, McKay Coneybeare, Travis Carroll, Carroll's mother and owner of Head Lake Grill, Diana Gomes, with players Hunter Smith, Devon Bangay, coach Mike Rieger and player Jalen Campbell. Absent for the photo was player Caleb Schmidt and head coach Dave Waito. /DARREN LUM Staff

Although head coach Dave Waito was not able to attend, the team's other coaches Gord Cochrane and Mike Rieger shared the meal with the team and handed out gifts specific to each player.

Carroll was handed a block of wood with a brief description of his last game.

It referred to his last game, which relates to his solid post move in the key and for his perfect shooting from the free throw line – four shots made from four shot attempts.

Like the shot he took to join the team more than four years ago, it was a solid one for his foundation to becoming the man he has become.

This was a stellar year that may not be duplicated any time soon by another Hawks basketball team.

They were simply dominant in the Kawartha High School Basketball League, finishing 7-1. Cochrane even bought a cake for the luncheon to recognize the achievement.

It was the team's bond that was the foundation for success built not from just one great season, but several years of work that culminated in an unforgettable year.

Team Canada an honour that never gets old

Having this knowledge, he said, is essential, but understands that nothing is guaranteed in a single-elimination format during the medal round of play.

"Obviously when you win at anything you understand what it takes and it's no different in this tourney. The hardest part is once you get to the medal round, you have to run the table or you're out of gold medal contention so you have to make sure you make those games and big moments count," he said. He welcomes the veteran role on the team.

"It's been fun so far being an assistant captain and being looked at as a leader on this team. It's a role I'm very comfortable in and being my fifth worlds, I am very familiar with the tourney. I'm just trying to help the guys when I can to navigate each game and new challenge as seamlessly as possible, there are a lot of unknowns ... that can come at you in these events," he said. Getting this opportunity to play more hockey is a welcome, particularly when it is for his country.

"Just being able to play more hockey and most of all, wearing the red and white. It's always an honour and it never gets old," he said.

As of Tuesday morning, Canada leads group B, which includes Finland, Slovakia, Germany, U.S.A., France, Hungary and Belarus. In group A there is the Czech Republic, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark, Kazakhstan, Norway and Latvia.

Community clean up scheduled for West Guilford

community news
west guilford

At the Community Centre, the yard clean-up is scheduled for May 26 at 5:30 p.m. Pick up or rake, wear gardening gloves and place garbage into a bag. In an hour, given 10 or 12 volunteers, the job will be done and the Centre will once again be presentable. Flower show a tribute to Nancy Brink's planting last fall.

Wednesday walkers came at 11:30 to pace the halls and stairs for an hour. Indoor running shoes are recommended. Good to be able to get the exercise with congenial company, out of the black flies and whatever the weather might throw at you.

The ball diamond is up and running thanks to Mandy

Harrison who will be there to welcome and oversee young players on Wednesday evenings. Beginning at 6 p.m., the eight-year-olds and under will be starting to know the game and practice until 7 p.m., when the nine to thirteen-year-olds will take their turn at the bat and bases. Fourteen-year-olds and up have the field beginning at 8 p.m. Whoever comes plays, you're never too young to start.

Northland Faith Church has booked the Centre at 7 p.m. May 29. The focus is on Bev Hicks' book, Word Nuggets. Part of the evening will be given over to the music of Karl Upton and friends who sing together and to the Northland Faith Singers.

It is not too soon to contact your chums who attended the Guilford School either long ago, or more recently and inform them of the school reunion on Sept. 17 beginning at 1 p.m. at the Centre. Bring pictures.

Euchre scores:
High, Gerald and Tina Hadley
Low, Sandy Poulton and Perry Morrison
Most Lone Hands, Kay Morrison and Ray Campbell.

Signs of spring are all around us

community news
wilberforce
Hilda Clark
448-2018

Though a chill in the air and a few snowflakes on the weekend were warnings against exposing tender plants to the elements it is pleasant to have the garden centres open. The weather as always whether rain or an unusual hot spell greatly affects one's yard and garden efforts.

In anticipation for the annual arrival of seasonal and other visitors an information centre has been opened by the Municipality of Highlands East. Housed in the upper level of the curling club it is open daily except Tuesdays. Residents are encouraged to drop in so they can pass on information about what is available there. Visitors can be interested in many aspects of our economy and we can all help boost interest in our community.

An official opening is expected there as well as at the Food Hub. Both are open but the public is waiting for the official openings. It's like theatre productions where shows hit the stage for performances before the official openings take place.

Actually, a visit to the information centre is a great opportunity to observe the progress of the repairs at the curling club. It is going well. By late last week one could see the new pipes all laid out on carefully levelled sand ready for the next stage before the new concrete installation.

Look for lots of yard sales around the village this Saturday. It's always a popular time when "one person's trash can be another's treasure."

The Reverend Robin Peasgood led the Pentecost Sunday service at St. Margaret's Church on May 15. Her husband Steve and children Linus and Holly were welcomed as well.

In a phone call from his sister Victoria Acaster we learned that cousin Kenneth Dummett of Coronation Alberta died last week at age 88. Though a lifetime resident of Alberta, Ken has relatives in the Haliburton area - families such as Elstone, Paull, Somerville, Dummett, Hughey and Clark. Ken the son of Frank Dummett and Pauline Hughey lived and farmed all of his life on land homesteaded by his late parents. He is survived by sister Eva Wadstein, brother Franklin (Peggy) and Victoria and their families.

Clean up Miskwabi
May 22

The Miskwabi Area Community Association is holding their annual Road Clean Up and Barbecue on Sunday, May 22. We meet at the Strickland Boat on Trapper's Trail at 11 a.m. We spread out on the roads and pick up the garbage and then gather at noon for a barbecue and compare collections! Anyone coming to help out just needs to bring some bug spray and gloves.

Legion awards Echo, Canoe FM

The Haliburton Echo and Canoe FM were honoured to receive the Haliburton Legion's Media Award this year. The plaques were presented at the annual general meeting of the Haliburton Legion branch on Thursday, May 12. Both media organizations expressed their gratitude for the honour and highlighted the importance of the Legion as a community institution. # Funding to our health care system will increase by over $1 billion this year.

ontario.ca/bettercare

Investing in new and better ways for all Ontarians to get the care they need means:

- 700 new doctors and specialists
- 35 hospitals currently being renewed, modernized or expanded
- $250 million invested in home and community care
- $345 million invested to improve wait times and access to care

These investments ensure a strong health care system for both today and tomorrow.

645 IN MEMORIAM

Remember

They are waiting
by the river,
Just across the silent stream
Where sweet flowers are ever blooming
And the banks are ever green.

650 OBITUARIES

HALIBURTON Community FUNERAL HOME

Laverne McGyver Cooney
(Resident of Eagle Lake, Ontario)

Unexpectedly on Friday May 13, 2016 at the age of 63. Loving husband and best friend of Karlene (nee Sisson) for over 44 years. Cherished son of Perry and Aileen (predeceased). Beloved father to Aleatha, Bryan and Suzanne and David and Nancy. Will be sadly missed by his grandchildren Sydney, Makenzy, Riley, Alex, Zoe and Noah. Dear brother to Joan (Don) and Larry (predeceased). Also lovingly remembered by many nieces and nephews. He will be truly missed by all his friends and family. There was nobody that he wouldn't help with anything no matter how big or small.

Celebration Of Life & Reception

Friends and family are invited to gather for a Celebration of Laverne's life at the WEST GUILFORD RECREATION CENTRE 1061 Kennisis Lake Road Haliburton, Ontario on Saturday afternoon, May 21, 2016 from 12-4 p.m. As expressions of sympathy, donations to the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association would be appreciated by the family. Funeral arrangements have been entrusted to the HALIBURTON COMMUNITY FUNERAL HOME 13523 Hwy. #118, Haliburton, Ontario (705)457-9209.
